FINDS AGAINST COWEN

Montague, a lawyer at 55 Liberty street, conduct that led up to the proceeding.

In 1881 Cowen was appointed committee of the person and property of Mary Ann Dunn, now in the Hudson River State Hospital for the Insane. He has been drawing $10 a month ever since for his services. The property was about $12,500. Two years ago Mr. Montague was appointed special guardian for Miss Dunn in an accounting which Cowen was directed to make. At that time Mr. Montague protested against a claim made by Cowen for an extra allowance of $6,250, which would have practically wiped out the estate.

which would have practically wiped out the estate.

In his decision yesterday Supreme Court Justice McCall said that it would be useless to go into the "unnecessary unwise proceedings leading to burdensome and unwarranted expenditures which have so lessened the estate," and he approves the report of the referee that Cowen's allowance of $10 a month must stop at 1904, the date when the accounting was directed upon which the court has just acted.

was directed upon which the court has just acted.

Justice McCall directs Cowen to pay back to the estate the $10 a month collected since then and total payments of $500 made out of the estate by Cowen in the last few years, which, the court says, were uncalled for. Justice McCall also denies Cowen's claim for $6,250 for special services. The referee had recommended that a payment of $500 be made to the committee, but the court directs that the committee get nothing. He directed payment of $227 to Mr. Montague for his disbursements and an extra allowance of $750. Cowen's motion to remove Mon-$750.
